CONFERENCES

Televising the Socialist Body. Projections of Health and Welfare on the Socialist and Post-Socialist Screen – Paris, 18-20 June 2020

Television prospered upon a tension between education and leisure, which was especially acute in a socialist context. Televisions began to appear in homes in Eastern Europe after its stabilization as a socialist “block” dominated by the USSR. However diverse by nature and history, all the socialist regimes shared common strategies of mass propaganda, i.e. the intensive use of media to convert people and transform collective/individual behaviours. Television was supposed to be a new tool allowing direct normative shaping of every citizen, but also blamed in some circles for stimulating the disarticulation of the class/work/political collective. Memory of The Communist Past - Bratislava, 14-16 October 2020

The Communist regimes in Central and Eastern Europe fell 30 years ago. A variety of designs, attitudes and methodological approaches have developed which have resulted in projects that are focused on the way the "Communist past" is represented and communicated in these societies today. The main aim of our conference Memory of The Communist Past is to bring together experts from the area of social sciences and the humanities. (Read more)

People's History? Radical Historiography and the Left in the Twentieth Century - Norwich, 15-16 February 2020

History has always played a crucial role in the making of the modern left, both in Britain and around the world, providing a vital tool for theoretical rationale, social critique and direct action. Whilst offering an important source of intellectual stimulus, it has equally been the cause of hot debate, controversy and division, never more so than during the twentieth century. Over the course of those ten tumultuous decades, history became the ground upon which the left struggled to define and redefine itself in response to dramatically changing times. (Read more)

PUBLICATIONS

Kriza i kritike racionalnosti – nasljeđe '68. Radovi četvrtog okruglog stola odsjeka za filozofiju, Zagreb: Filozofski fakultet Sveučilišta u Zagrebu, 2019 (edicija Radovi Odsjeka za filozofiju, knjiga #4)

Kao i prethodni zbornici u ediciji Radovi Odsjeka za filozofiju, i ovaj četvrti pod naslovom Kriza i kritike racionalnosti. Nasljeđe '68 nastavlja s interdisciplinarnim pristupom i zanimljivim međugeneracijskim uvidima u odabranu temu. Saldiranja naslijeđa '68., ponajprije tematizacijom pojmova krize i kritike racionalnosti, u zborniku se predstavljaju nizom disciplinarno različitih priloga i interesa, međusobno povezanih ukazivanjem na teorijske i obrazovne obrate, angažiranu epistemologiju itd., kao i na njihove uspjehe i promašaje u dokidanju modernističkog projekta.
