Why study in Pula?

Here are a few reasons:

- diverse study programmes
- work in smaller study groups
- safe and friendly environment
- practice in media, in cultural institutions, in schools
- practice and outdoor lessons in all programmes (archeological research in ancient cities, a visit to the Glagolitic Alley in Istria and Glagolitic monuments on Cres and Krk, visits to institutions, museums, exhibitions within the country and abroad...)
- possible international mobility during the study
- active student associations
- new student dormitory and restaurant, the campus is expanding into new complexes
- Pula – ancient city of concerts and festivals: the city of Pula Film Festival, Sa(n)jam knjige u Istri book fair, International Theatre Festival PUF, concert season in the Amphitheater...
- Istria – the centre of Glagolitic literature and literacy, dialectological research, archeological sites, historical research, research of contemporary history and everyday life, crossroads of cultures
- Istria – a destination ideal for tourism and digital nomads, a place for work and relaxation.
The Faculty of Humanities in Pula offers the following study programmes:

- undergraduate study programmes
- graduate study programmes
- Teaching Module for educational study courses
- Translation Postgraduate Specialist Study Program (in the realm of Croatian-Italian bilingualism)
- lifelong learning programme – courses of foreign language and Croatian as a foreign language for citizens.

Undergraduate study programmes are conducted as single major or double major programmes (can be combined).

Single major studies:
- Croatian Language and Literature
- Japanese Language and Literature
- Linguistic and Intercultural Mediation
- History
- Italian Language and Literature

Double major studies:
- Archaeology
- English Language and Literature
- Croatian Language and Literature
- Japanese Language and Culture
- Latin Language and Roman Literature
- History
- Italian Language and Literature
- Culture and Tourism – Italian Language and Culture

Graduate study programmes are also conducted as a single major or double major programmes (can be combined).

Single major studies:
- Croatian Language and Literature
- Japanology
- History
- Italian Language and Culture (with a possibility to obtain a double major in cooperation with the University for Foreigners of Perugia)

Double major studies:
- English Language and Literature
- Croatian Language and Literature
- Japanology
- Latin Language and Roman Literature
- History
- Italian Language and Literature

Contact information:
Ronjgova 1, 52 100 Pula, Croatia
Phone: +385 (52) 377 504; 099 5342 557
E-mail: ffpu-ured@unipu.hr
Website: https://ffpu.unipu.hr/
Facebook: https://hr-hr.facebook.com/ffpu.unipu.hr
Instagram: @filozofski_fakultet_pula